ABOUT QINTEGRAL

Founded in 2018 by Dr Jarrod Dunne, we leverage extensive practical experience in using seismic amplitudes and AvO for a wide range of E&P activities around the world. We offer consultancy services and software solutions with a mindset to truly integrate geological and geophysical information to make better subsurface decisions.

QIntegral is based in Melbourne Australia although through our associates we may work from a range of locations throughout the world. To date all of our work has been office-based.

Our clients come from all over the world, ranging from resource start up companies, government agencies, to multi-national exploration and production companies. We use our own proprietary software and therefore our suppliers are limited to global IT providers.
